

He's Everyone's Type!

Why is everyone jumpin' for Jason?
Because it's your Dudey!

Jason Dudey is your typical brown haired, blue-eyed guy living next door that your mom would love to have over for dinner. He also happens to be a very talented comedian with a huge future in show business. "I would love to make a living making people laugh," says the mild and witty Dudey. Jason has the kind of Seinfeld like observational humor and the extreme likeability that industry pros are raving about. "Dudey is sitcom material," raves Conquest Entertainment President and CEO Don Allen. Allen went on to say, "Jason Dudey has a family everyone in America can identify with and a charming personality that turn the most desperate man giddy!" Whether it's his mom's police scanners, his dad's metal detector, or the fact that his sister is living in a 1980's time warp, with high bangs; Jason's comedy builds a nice foundation of which he is and what he is all about. "I'm your typical guy next door who just happens to be gay," says Dudey.

Speaking of gay, it's something that is cleverly done in his routine without going overboard. "I definitely talk about being gay, but I don't like to throw it in your face," explains Dudey. It's something that is a part of Jason's life...but just one of the many fascinating parts! "He's gay and he makes it interesting, but he is also cute, keen, clean, and sees all the little things that we audience members take for granted," says HBP Vice

"Dudey is sitcom material"

- Don Allen, Conquest Entertainment

President Dick Bloomfeld. Bloomfeld also added, "His comedy is incredibly funny and well-rounded. He has a bright future in television." Bloomfeld should know. He has groomed greats like Gabe Kaplan, Roseanne Barr, and most recently Kevin James of the hit show, "King of Queens."

Jason's day job keeps him on television sets but he is anxious to make the switch to being on camera. "I am an Art Department Coordinator for television commercials and I love it, but I think it's time to start getting on screen," says Dudey. Several Casting Directors share his sentiments. "He is perfect for television

"His comedy is incredibly funny and well-rounded"

- Dick Bloomfeld, HBP Vice President

Because of his wholesome looks, his sharp wit, and his never ending energy," professes well-respected Casting Director Lisa Beach, who saw Dudey perform recently at the Improv in Ontario, CA. Dean Fronk of Pemrick/Fronk Casting in Sherman Oaks saw Jason at the Comedy Store and said, "There's no question that this young man is going to stick in this town."

Remember the name Jason Dudey (Actually, it's kind of hard to forget it). He can't miss! He's everyone's type of guy!

Publicity Dept. C.M. Cannon
Written by: Marla Stein
Graphic Layout by: Conquest

Smash Publicity ©2004
Contact (714) 634-2404

Rights granted for publication of all text and graphics.
B&W Photo ©2004 Jason Dudey
For more information visit www.smashpr.com